

PRELIMINARY WORK IS FINISHED BY CONVENTION; ADJOURNMENT IS TAKEN

P. DELEGATES ASSEMBLE QUIETLY FOR CONSIDERATION OF VITAL PARTY QUESTIONS IN CHICAGO.

HARDING GIVES SPEECH

Program Arranged For in Advance Carried Through Without a Hitch—Will Hear Reports, Thursday Morning.

(By Associated Press.)
(By Staff Correspondent.)
Republican Convention Hall, Chicago, June 7.—When the Republican National convention opened at 11:30 o'clock this morning the Wisconsin delegation was in its seats, all members except Governor E. L. Phillips, who is ill at Milwaukee, being present. George A. West, alternate, took the governor's seat. Word was received from the governor's sick room a few minutes before the delegation went to the Coliseum that the governor had passed a good night. This cheering news was answered by a telegram of congratulation signed by the eleven uninstructed delegates which the Wisconsin chief executive would have led had his illness not prevented him from attending the convention.

When the first ballot is taken the eleven uninstructed delegates will vote for Hughes, and the fifteen progressive delegates of Senator La Follette will vote for La Follette. Later when the Badger leader's chances are gone, they are expected to vote for Hughes.

Republican Convention Hall, Chicago, June 7.—The quietest opening of any convention ever held by the republican party featured the initial session this morning. Cool and reserved the big gathering opened the convention without demonstration.

Senators Lodge, Crane and Penrose and every other party leader passed in their seats without recognition. From Hittcock entered unnoticed, Chaney Dewey arrived and was received with handclapping by the New York delegation but otherwise there were few instances to remind convention delegates of years past. The first cheer of the day was given as the audience of an estimate of close to twelve thousand arose. Remaining standing they sang two verses of America. Amid perfect silence the Rev. John Stone of Chicago, offered the opening prayer.

Chairman Hilles requested that everyone stand and be photographed. Harding Temporary Chairman, then presented the name of Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, for temporary chairman of the convention. There were no other nominations.

Senator Harding accepted the chair and the keynote speech of the convention. The great building shook with applause as he closed a fervent appeal to the party to forget differences and restore customs and traditions of republicanism.

Senator Harding's telling points were noticeable in his demands for defense, such as George Washington Ford, and the attitude of the convention was seen in the frequent applause which at times stopped the speaker's progress for minutes. A sustained demonstration greeted Harding's declaration for "a navy that would fear none in the world."

More applause greeted Harding's declaration, that "this is not the time for rearmament, it is a day of reconstruction."

with what is being done toward framing the platform.
"We shall declare for a navy that will be a real protection both in size and efficiency and up to the latest requirements, and for such other military measures as will meet the demands of all emergencies."
The Roosevelt idea of preparedness will, it is thought, prevail.

ALL ENGLAND MOURNS AS WAR CHIEFS WORK ON KITCHENER'S PLAN

Entire Nation Grieves but War Lord's Death Only Gives Impetus to Perfection of His Victory Schemes.

(By Associated Press.)
London, June 7.—The British army went into mourning today for its late chief, Lord Kitchener, who died at sea on his way to the front. The country flags were at half mast. There was, of course, no suspension of activities having to do with prosecution of the war, and at the war office and other governmental departments, officials continued to work out details of the scheme which Earl Kitchener formulated.

From allied and neutral countries, the dominion colonies and dependencies, came a flood of cablegrams expressing sympathy. In the dominions, South Africa, legislators adjourned as a mark of respect for the late leader. The news was received in the South African assembly during the discussion of the estimate. Premier Botha, who was deeply affected, made an immediate announcement and moved adjournment while members, Dutch and British, remained standing as a tribute to the man who led the British to victory in the Boer war.

Newspapers and many commercial organizations have taken up the demand for immediate internment of aliens from enemy nations on the ground that the Germans may have been advised from England of Earl Kitchener's departure and such knowledge may have been responsible for the destruction of the Hampshire.

WOMEN WILL DEMAND IMMEDIATE ACTION ON SUFFRAGE PLANK

New Party Does Not Want Promises But Real Action on Suffrage Question.

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, June 7.—That the appeal to the national women's party for endorsement of a federal amendment for suffrage to be made by Chairman Miss Anne Martin of Nevada, at the republican convention this afternoon, will not be made to the assembly as a political action, but as a "gathering of influential members of the party" was the statement of officers of the women's party today. Miss Martin will appeal to members of the party to use their influence in congress to secure immediate action in behalf of the newly organized body of women.

She will not ask a plank in the republican platform, nor for promises, but for instant action. This was the announcement from headquarters of the congressional union.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED AT ELKS CONVENTION

(Special to the Gazette.)
Green Bay, June 7.—Chas. Yockey, exalted ruler of the Milwaukee order of Elks, was elected president of the Wisconsin association of Elks when their convention closed here today. B. R. Smith of Oshkosh was elected first vice president. President Yockey appointed several state officers to succeed themselves, including the chaplain, himself, and other officers. Exalted ruler Duffy of Fond du Lac, extended an invitation to the order to hold their convention next month at Fond du Lac and his recommendation was accepted by the convention.

WELL KNOWN NEWS WRITER IS DEAD IN CHICAGO

Chicago, June 7.—Herbert Waters, a well known Chicago newspaper man, is dead after an illness of six weeks, due to heart trouble. Waters began work here sixteen years ago. He was born at Fond du Lac, Wis., thirty-nine years ago and educated at the University of Chicago. His widow and brother reside in Chicago and his mother and sister at Fond du Lac, where the body will be sent for burial.

SAY "TEDDY" OPPOSES HUGHES' NOMINATION

REPORT THAT T. R. WILL BOLT AGAIN IF HUGHES IS NAMED CAUSES SMILES.

BACKERS CONFIDENT

Leader of Hughes Faction, Governor Whitman, Practically Tells Teddy to "Go to It."

(By Associated Press.)
Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 7.—While Colonel Roosevelt refrains from making any public statement, officials are closing his real attitude toward the political situation at Chicago, it is well known to his intimates here that he is opposed to the nomination of Justice Hughes, and it is their confident belief that if Justice Hughes is nominated, Colonel Roosevelt will himself become a candidate.

Chicago, June 7.—A report that Colonel Roosevelt had said in Oyster Bay that he would favor a third party ticket if Hughes was republican party nominee, brought forth the statements from the Hughes men.

Governor Whitman, leader of the Hughes faction of the New York delegation, smiled when he was told of the report. "I don't consider that bad news, do you?" he said. "I have thought all along that Justice Hughes would be nominated and elected, and I still think so. We have a majority guaranteed on the second ballot."

The governor said he knew nothing of reports that the justice would decline to run if a third ticket was put into the field.

DISLIKES HUGHES' FIREWORKS

Colonel Roosevelt, it is well understood, is not at all satisfied with Justice Hughes' so-called "flag speech," which he is said to regard as merely a Fourth of July address, having no value as disclosing the justice's attitude toward the real issues of the day.

In the words of his followers here, the colonel regards the speech as further "evidence of pussy-footing" to which he is said to be opposed in the present crisis in the country's affairs.

Colonel Roosevelt, it is known, feels better today in regard to his own chances toward being nominated than at any time.

His followers look for a broadside from him within a day or two, which they say will be calculated to eliminate Hughes and any other candidate whom the colonel regards as representing the "pussy-foot" idea.

The colonel feels, they say, that if the republicans have made up their minds to nominate a man representing this idea, he will run himself, in order to bring before the people the issue of "straight-forward Americanism."

DETROIT, JUNE 7.—HENRY FORD'S SECRETARY TODAY DENIED A REPORT MR. FORD HAD NOTIFIED THE MICHIGAN REPUBLICAN DELEGATION THAT THEY SHOULD VOTE FOR HUGHES AT THE CONVENTION.

WORE HUGHES BADGES

Chicago, June 7.—Notwithstanding that they are under instructions to vote for Henry Ford, the Michigan delegates came to the convention wearing the Hughes badges.

Chairman Marks said: "We will cast our first ballot for Mr. Ford," after that we will decide what to do for Hughes."

Other members of the delegation were more outspoken, some openly advocating a change of the ballot to Hughes, prior to the announcement of first vote. Mr. Belman of the delegation said only one member favored any other candidate than Mr. Hughes, and he was confident he would be won over.

The second vote will be for Hughes," he said.

COLUMBUS RAIDERS WILL BE EXECUTED

Seven Mexicans Taken After Massacre Moved From U. S. Into Mexico for Their Death.

(By Associated Press.)
San Antonio, Tex., June 7.—Seven Mexicans, arrested after a raid on Columbus, N. M., and recently sentenced to death, are to be taken from the penitentiary today to Deming, Mexico, for execution. After their sentence at Deming the prisoners were brought here for safe keeping.

Unless Governor W. C. McDonald intervenes the hanging will take place on Friday.

PEACE IS PROPOSED BETWEEN TWO LINES

DOVE OF PEACE FLIRTING BETWEEN PROGRESSIVES AND REPUBLICANS.

NO CHANGE IN LINE-UP

Hughes Gains More Strength, If Anything, Over Night.—Stick to Favorite Sons So Far.

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, June 7.—As the republican and progressive conventions assembled today, there was no outward evidence of any marked change in the situation. Over night conferences among leaders failed to develop any definite plan on which they could agree on a candidate who would receive the undivided support of both factions, but some of the republican leaders are persistent in their belief that the ultimate there would be harmonious action in some way.

If there was any change at all in the lineup over night, it showed an ingenuity on the part of the republican leaders of the most part the speakers or managers of favorite son booms were not changed, for on this, the convention day of two parties, bringing together of delegates, the republican line-up was not a sign of demonstration or band playing until an hour before time for the assembly.

This was partially explained by the notable lack of demonstration, which has been one of the unique features of this convention period, and partly by the fact that a cold rain continued to sweep the city. As the hour for assembling approached, the bands and delegations started moving toward the convention hall. They were a sorry, soaked and bedraggled looking lot as they marched in.

REPULSE ATTACK

Paris, June 7.—The repulse of a powerful German attack on Port Vaux on the Verdun line, with heavy losses to the attackers, is announced in an official statement issued by the war office today. Violent bombardment of the fort is still being carried out by the Germans.

The attack on Port Vaux started at eight o'clock last night and was promptly checked by the fire of French machine guns. It is announced the Germans retreated in disorder. At hill 304 an artillery duel is in progress and also at Carnettes Wood. Two German patrols which tried to cross the river Aisne west of Soissons were dispersed.

PROGRESSIVES DRAFT A DEFENSE PLATFORM

TREMBLOUS DEMONSTRATION WHEN CONVENTION IS CALLED TO ORDER.

A BIG DEMONSTRATION

Principal Appeal to People Will Be on Preparedness Along Three Lines, Military, of the Spirit and Industrial.

(By Associated Press.)
Auditorium Hall, Chicago, June 7.—The convention was called to order by Victor Murdock, chairman of the progressive national committee, at 12:27 p. m. The demonstration was tremendous.

A tentative draft of the progressive platform framed by a committee of leaders today showed the principal appeal of the party will be made on preparedness with Americanism as a foundation. The draft is short, not more than 1,500 words in length.

It discusses preparedness under three heads, Military, of the Spirit and Industrial. Under the "Spirit" comes Americanism, and under Industrial Preparedness comes the tariff and questions of social and industrial reform.

Much of the 1912 platform is omitted from the draft, but there is general reiteration of its principles. The draft was drawn up by Dean William Lewis of the University of Pennsylvania and others. It will be submitted to the resolutions committee in regular course of proceedings, but it is believed by its framers it will go forward as a basis for the platform.

A quartette singing "Teddy" songs from the balcony kept the crowd cheering and waving hats while the fall of the gavel was awaited for the convention to formally open.

Michigan delegates, bearing a huge banner inscribed "Roosevelt carried Michigan by 60,000 in 1912, and can carry it by 1,000,000 in 1916," carried American flags were the first to form outside the auditorium.

An insurgent movement against the selection of Walter Brown of Ohio for permanent chairman was quietly on the convention floor. It was planned by radicals to present Governor Hiram Johnson of California.

French Johnson heard the movement and sent word he would not be a party to the discord.

Raymond Robins stepped forward to speak as temporary chairman at once.

The cheering for Robins lasted less than twenty seconds. His first words were met with cries of "Louder, Louder." Soon the convention settled down to listen.

After three sentences, Robins introduced the name of Theodore Roosevelt. All delegates and spectators rose to their feet, wildly cheering and waving flags. The characterization of Roosevelt as the "foremost citizen of the world," was the phrase which caught the crowd. "We want Teddy," "We want Teddy," was the resultant battle cry.

After forty-five minutes of cheers for Roosevelt, Chairman Robins advised not to repeat the Colonel's name, and hurriedly proceeded. Fully forty-five minutes, Convention officers agreed the delegates would not have been restrained long from voicing their demands for Roosevelt.

AX MURDER MYSTERY SPREADS INTO TEXAS

Aged Banker to Die, His Wife Already Dead and Daughter Hurt Seriously in Brutal Crime of Mystery.

(By Associated Press.)
Wills Point, Tex., June 7.—Mrs. H. F. Goodnight, 70, was killed by a bullet which entered her head as she sat in a chair in the bank here, Saturday. The husband, who was fatally injured, and their daughter, Mrs. R. J. Morau, was beaten into insensibility by a large hammer or an ax. Physicians said Mrs. Morau probably would live, but it was only a question of hours before Goodnight would die.

The house, which is on the outskirts of the city, was found in order this morning with no sign of attempted robbery.

According to the story told by R. J. Morau, son-in-law, he was awakened about 3:30 o'clock by screams of his wife in an adjoining room. He found her on the floor, her head bleeding. He caught Mr. Goodnight, but found him in almost a dying condition in his bedroom on the second floor. Mrs. Goodnight was found in the cellar dead, having been carried from her bedroom on the second floor to the basement. Her head was crushed in the same manner as the other victims.

COLLEGE NO PLACE FOR MILITARY STUDY

Carnegie Foundation Teaching Advancement—President Derides Idea of Varsity War Science Study.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, June 7.—The college is not intended as a place to teach military training and the modern curriculum does not provide room enough for such instruction in a way which would be of any value. Henry S. Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching, declared today at the New York University commencement exercises.

Mr. Pritchett said further that "the contribution of the land grant colleges to the preparation of a reserve of citizen soldiers was practically negligible." He ridiculed "the assumption of our legislators that military training could be made by a product of a college course."

EMPEROR IN PRAISE OF HIS FLEET

COMMENDS SAILORS FOR WHAT HE TERMS SWEEPING VICTORY.

"FREEDOM OF SEAS"

German Reports Still Insist the War-Spite Was Sunk During Recent Naval Battle.

(By Associated Press.)
Berlin, via London, June 7.—In the complete account of the emperor's speech to sailors of the fleet at Wilhelmshaven, which was published here today, the emperor was quoted as saying the great naval battle of Jutland has destroyed Great Britain's supremacy of the sea.

"When the great war came," the emperor said, "cruisers came suddenly attacked the landward. Our army by desperate fighting against superior foes, slowly conquered them, one after another, but the fleet waited in vain for a real fight, in numerous individual encounters the navy, clearly demonstrated its heroic spirit, but was forced to wait month after month for general battle."

Repeated efforts were made to bring the enemy out, but they proved fruitless until they finally came out last week, when the gigantic fleet of Albion was met by the German fleet. A battle was fought 100 years ago, appeared in the open, surrounded with a mihub. Instantly our fleet engaged the superior British army, and with what result? The English fleet was beaten.

"The first big blow was dealt the English fleet whose tyrannical supremacy was shattered."

"The news electrified the world and caused unprecedented jubilation everywhere that made German hearts beat. Your success in the North Sea fight means we have added a new chapter to history of the world. God Almighty steered your arms and gave you clear eyes to accomplish this."

"I, standing here today as your supreme commander, thank you from the bottom of my heart. As representative of the fatherland I thank you, and in the name of my army I bring you its greatest thanks for the victory which you have won for the fatherland."

"At a time when the enemy is slowly being crushed by our arms, and when our allies have driven the Italians from mountain to mountain, you add new glories to our cause. The world was prepared for everything, but not for the victory which you have won over the English. The start which you have made will cause fear to creep into the bones of the enemy. What you have done you did for the fatherland, that in the future it may have freedom of the seas for its commerce. Therefore, I ask you to join me in three cheers for our dearly beloved fatherland."

German Report.
The assertion that the British dreadnaught Warspite was sunk in the North sea battle last week, is again made, notwithstanding the fact that in dispatches from Diehl to Overseas News Agency, these dispatches state the Warspite was sunk during the battle by the German battleship Koenig.

"It was observed from the Koenig that the Warspite had been damaged badly. Then there came a great explosion and the Warspite sank rapidly."

"Survivors from the German cruiser Elbing say that the German submarines played an important part in the battle. They were ordered to move into position by falling shells. Everywhere bodies were floating."

"Sailors state the report the German ships fled is ridiculous. In the German fleet were several vessels which were slower than the British, and on that account it would have been impossible for the German fleet to escape if the result of battle had been such as to place the British in a position to pursue the Germans."

"The sailors report there was uninterrupted fighting for seventeen hours. They had no food in that time except that bread was passed around once. The sailors are in good condition and do not look like men who have passed through the greatest naval battle ever fought."

SEARCH FOR BODIES IN CAPSIZED BOAT

Memphis Has Easton Disaster Storm Wrecks River Steamer—Thirty Believed Dead.

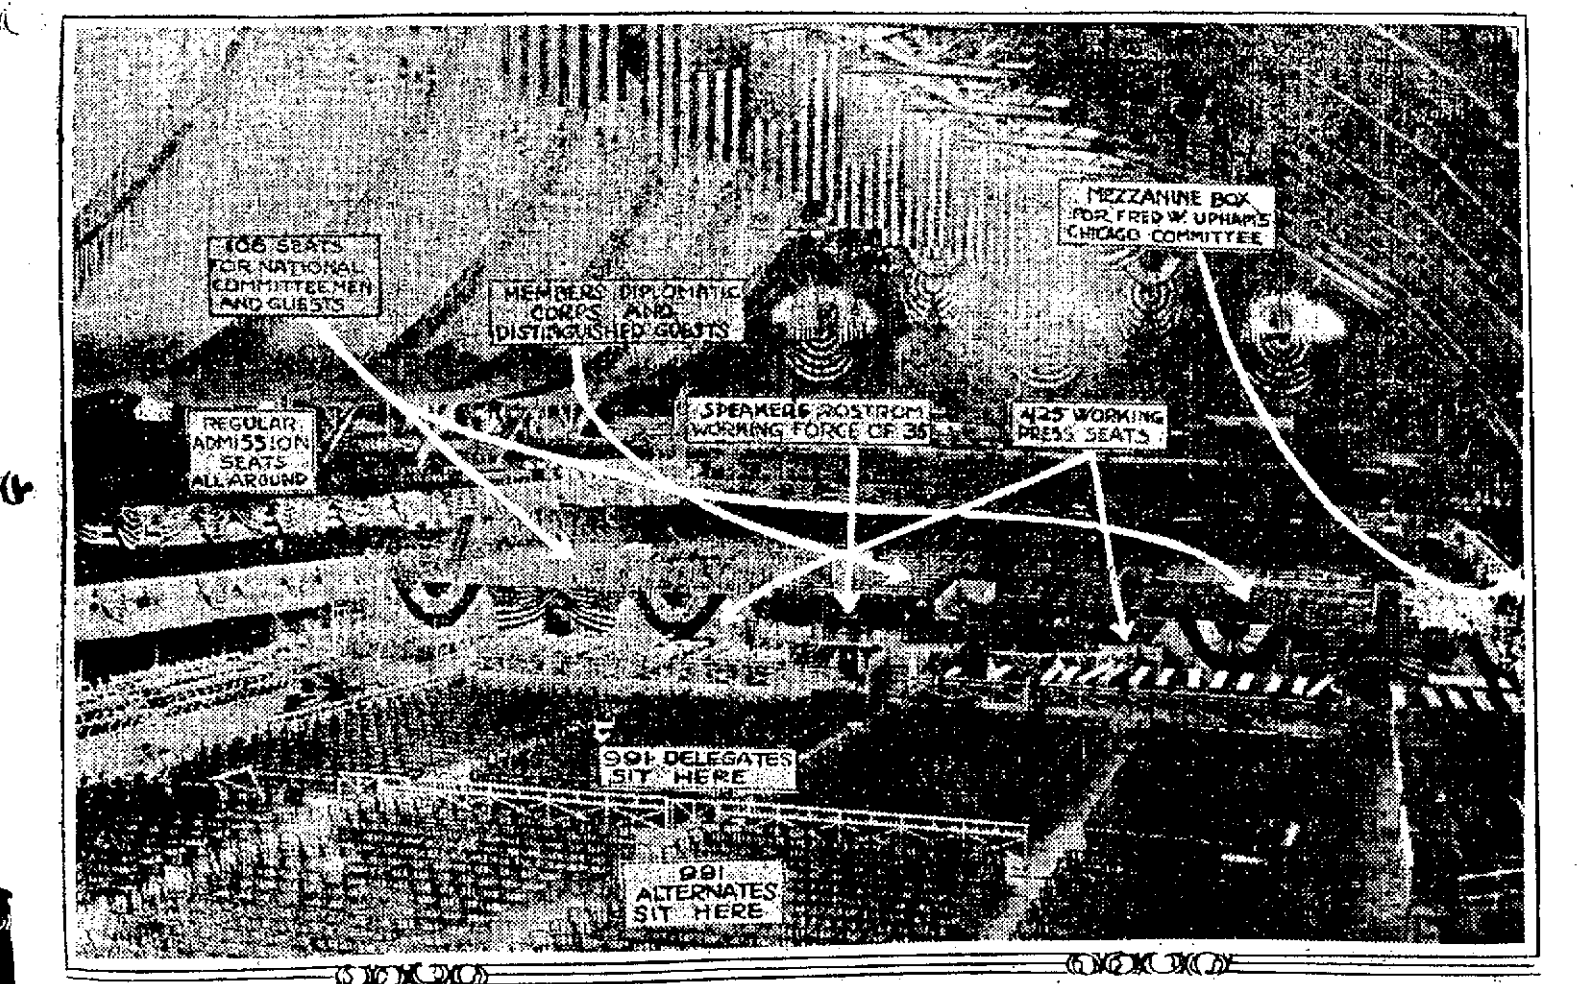

(By Associated Press.)
Memphis, Tenn., June 7.—Divers early today began a search for bodies of thirty or more persons, believed to have been on board the Mississippi river steamer Elmore capsized near Pleasant View, Tenn., twenty miles north of Memphis in Monday night's storm. The bodies of two white men were recovered last night. Two other white passengers and about thirty negroes, the majority of them deck hands, have not been accounted for.

The boat which is lying on its side is not believed to be seriously damaged.

BELIEVE 150 DEAD IN WESTERN STORM

Belated Reports From Wrecked States Arrive Telling of Great Life Loss and Big Damage.

(By Associated Press.)
Kansas City, June 7.—Additional reports from communities which have been cut off from the outside world since Monday's storm were expected today to increase the death list well above 150. Early today the deaths of 126 persons in Arkansas, Missouri, Mississippi, Tennessee and Illinois have been reported with a number of others missing and believed dead, and several hundred injured, some of them seriously. The hope is entertained for their recovery.

eral. The commencement and Shake-

It was hoped that it could be held at many people assembled on the lawn and many autos lined the streets, but there was no let up to the rain and it was necessary to put the exercises over.

FOODS THEY BUILD OR DESTROY

Amazing but rarely suspected truths about the things you eat.

By ALFRED W. McCANN (Copyright, 1916, by Alfred W. McCann.)

CHAPTER 68.

Sheep and school teachers differ in that sheep have no opportunity to direct the life course of the rising generation, although, if they could instruct the children of human beings in the mysteries of the sheep's immunity to disease, they would confer upon society a blessing of far greater value than all the efforts of ailing instructors in modernisms and alogies—

There are many facts vital to their lives which the school children of America will never learn until their teachers learn them.

Sheep are not school teachers and school teachers are not sheep. One difference between these two classes of animals, part from the fact that school teachers have souls and sheep have not, is the fact that sheep suffer serious diseases of the respiratory organs, infectious diseases, diseases of the nervous system, or diseases of the digestive system.

School teachers, on the contrary, understand the supposed ability to direct the life course of the rising generation, are just as prone to those diseases as all other human beings, no more so, no less so.

According to records compiled by a committee headed by Dr. Edwin C. Mearns, of the American Association of Teachers, Nov. 14, 1915, 20 per cent of the school children of the United States were absent from school on that day.

All the data in the report were obtained from application blanks submitted by teachers to the board of education, the refund of salaries deducted for absence caused by illness.

Illness usually affects the pocketbook as well as the health of its victims. A fragment of human wisdom which the school teachers have obviously acquired, "That 20 per cent of absences from duty is far too low is proved," says the report, "by the fact that refund blanks are not generally submitted for brief periods of absence, and moreover it must be assumed," continued the report, "that many teachers, who, under normal conditions would not have remained at home, because of physical debility to teach, forced themselves to report for duty which they could not properly perform."

In other words, the pocketbook compelled these sick teachers to subordinate the hazards of doing those things which their physical condition made next to impossible to the stern necessity of earning money through the use of broken or damaged instruments.

The automobile owner sends his car to the repair shop at the first indication that something is wrong, but the school teacher is unable to afford the luxury of a repair shop unless actually driven, through fear of death, to seek such help.

The total number of applications for excuse of absence for all causes of the year 1913-1914 among this one group of teachers was 4,148. The total time lost by their illness was 83,424 days. The four prevalent ailments responsible for this loss were diseases of the respiratory organs, infectious diseases, diseases of the nervous system, and diseases of digestive system.

The throat and lung troubles it was found constituted 35 per cent of the diseases, acute contagious diseases 15 per cent, nervous disorders 15 per cent, and digestive disorders 15 per cent.

It is significant indeed that these four diseases, as we have frequently seen, follow in the wake of disturbed metabolism with its corresponding loss of resistance and immunity.

COOKSVILLE

Cooksville, June 6.—Decoration Day was very quietly observed. Some went to other places, and most of the people stayed at home. The morning was very muddy and wet, and the ones that usually have the graves decorated early did not get to the cemetery quite so soon. God's Acre looked beautiful and many flowers were on the graves. Flags were on every soldier's resting place, placed there the day before.

CHICKEN AND A HALF IS HATCHED—FROM ONE EGG

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

IXONIA, Wis., June 7.—A chicken and one-half was hatched from an egg at the home of Fremont Lounsbury recently. The half chicken stood at the side of the perfect formed bird. It had no wings, neck or head but otherwise the body was well formed. The freaks were attached to each other.

Lounsbury performed an operation, cutting the half chicken from the other, and now the whole chicken is well and growing.

DRINK BEER FOR ENDURANCE

PHYSICAL endurance is one of the principal and deciding requisites in life. Proper food in conjunction with mild, stimulating beverages makes healthy men and women.

MODERATION—the Keynote to Longevity

Nature dictates Moderation, therefore what we drink should be of a moderate character—should possess digestive qualities to assist in building bodily endurance. While on the other hand, highly stimulating beverages very often retard digestion.

The universally accepted food beverage in America, because of its mildness—is BEER. In France it is Wine. In England—Ale. In Germany—Beer. In Russia—Vodka.

France and Germany do not prohibit—on the contrary—they encourage the use of mild beverages. Russia, since the beginning of the war, positively prohibits the use of Vodka. Why? England enforces strict regulation on highly alcoholic beverages. There's a reason.

France and Germany today are exhibiting most wonderful—almost superhuman strength and physical endurance. They partake moderately of mild stimulating beverages. They have proven their worth.

On the subject of Beer we have a direct quotation by Professor Adolf Chass, Royal College, Vienna, Austria:

"Beer makes good the waste of human tissue due to excessive mental and physical activity"

This corroborates the assertion as above expressed, BUT—BEER TO SUIT YOUR INDIVIDUAL REQUIREMENTS, MUST BE CHOSEN FOR "QUALITY FIRST".

lumber is more than "just wood"

Buying lumber deserves a little thought. Every kind of wood has its own special uses. Using the wrong kind of wood is no wiser than trying to plow with a cultivator.

We do not recommend "Old Faithful" HEMLOCK for high class interior trim and doors (use Birch for that) though Hemlock makes fine, soft wood trim; nor for shingles, nor posts, nor several other things. BUT—

When it comes to the "hard work" jobs—the studs, rafters, under-floors; rough boarding and siding; the barn floors; station platforms, crossing planks—wherever pretty grain and varnish don't count but "stand-up" does—nothing to it but "Old Faithful" HEMLOCK.

WEATHER FORECAST.

UNREAL PEACE TALK.

Although President Wilson recently expressly declared in any attention to offer mediation if not acceptable to all the belligerents, the German newspapers at least have taken his utterances as a hopeful sign of the peace Germany so desperately needs. Nothing could be more untrue. The peace talk current to anyone to whom the wish is not faster to the thought. It is confined entirely to the Germans themselves and their sympathizers here and elsewhere.

It is a curious revelation of the German mind that while industriously collecting facts, it fails to see the moral significance of the facts it collects. It has been remarked in this before that the one thing the German intelligence department was unable to extract from its costly espionage service was intelligence. It was invariably wrong in its deductions. It is fatally wrong in its view of peace possibilities.

Utterly unscrupulous in its methods of warfare, indifferent to treaties, repudiating pledges at convenience, seeing no shame in the clumsy falsehoods or even the subornation of perjury regarding the rest of the world as composed of inferior people not entitled to the same moral consideration one German might be expected to show to another. Bertha has completely failed to understand that the allies are telling the truth. They mean exactly what they say. Bertha does not recognize that the paramount issue is moral rather than material.

When the German chancellor proposes a settlement on the basis "looking at the map," he means a map drawn and defined by himself. It includes German conquests in Europe. It excludes lost ships, lost colonies and at least $13,000,000,000,000 lost foreign trade. But even if such a settlement were thinkable (which is absurd), it leaves out the one point for which the allies are fighting, but the point for which they will continue to fight, until Germany has reached the end of her money, her credit, her food supplies and her men.

This object may be said to be a radical psychological change in the German mind. That mind is obsessed with the idea that it is not bound by laws of honor and morality which it insists shall bind other people. Germany is not the prince among peoples but the parvenu. It has all the merits of the parvenu, the ability, the industry, the ordered and economically limited intelligence which make for great trade success. But she has the defects of the parvenu in failing to appreciate the relative value of such merely material success, or in realizing that it must carry with it a "decent respect to the opinions of mankind." She has not, in fact, found herself. She has not acquired international manners, or that true sense of proportion of which a sense of humor constitutes so large a part.

Until this moral change is brought to pass there is no prospect of peace.

THE BROKEN TABLET.

"When the Gods would destroy they first make mad."
 This time it is. It is being evidenced in this day and age. The German democratic calls attention to the fact when under the caption, "The Broken Tablet," it says:
 "Behold the shattered tablet now that for so many years has been borne in the ark of the covenant that 'God's patient poor' might be protected from the despoiling hand of the wicked conspirators against the people!"

"Behold the primary election law, that sacred covenant, handed down from the hills of progressivism and lawfulness, faithful, for the ark is 'busted' and the covenant is broken even by those who wrought it!"

"The Moses of progressivism evidently has come down from the mountain before his time for fear that the Philistines will possess the land completely or the hosts of democracy slip in and occupy the seats of the rulers."

"There was when the primary election law was passed as the ultimate rule of all that was holy in the realm of politics and the convention was condemned as the implement of the evil one to rob the 'dear people' of their rights. Of the contention volumes have been written and multitudes of periods uttered from chautauqua platforms and soap boxes, proclaiming it the bane of the political rights of the sovereign citizen. Senator La Follette has stood in his place and warned the people into the long stretches of the night while he revealed unto them the wickedness of the convention and the exceeding virtue of the primary election notion; all this while the tide of so-called progressivism was running in and the land of milk and honey was theirs to possess."

"But now, with the tide going out and the milk and honey disappearing—well, it is different now and the anointed are to hold a convention."

"Behold the spectacle!"
 "Shall we weep?"
 "Or, should we smile?"
 "But, seriously, now, what is to become of the primary election law when the legislature meets next January?"

THE SCHOOLS.

Within a short period the city schools will have closed for the summer vacation. The students will be liberated from the confinement of the school room to go out into the sunshine and enjoy nature. Yet the lessons taught will be remembered. Janesville has reason to be proud of its schools. Of course nothing is perfect but the Bower City offers its citizens excellent educational facilities. The schools today differ greatly from those of years ago when the three R's—Reading, Riting, Rithmetick—were taught to the rule of a hickory stick, but still some way or other even though the educational world has apparently gone toney toney since the days of Webster's spelling book or the McGuffey readers and the Barnes histories, the present generation appears to know as much if not more than their parents did at their age.

Schooling today and ten, twenty or thirty years ago, is as distinct an art as the improvements in the lines of the automobile. Unfortunately in some cases it has been the policy of retaining teachers of two or three decades ago on the payroll and then expect the same results of our pupils as those of students at other schools where more modern methods exist.

You can not teach an old dog new tricks is a saying that goes the world over. Though translated in many different languages. The parent of today who thinks that his boy or girl should be taught to know the alphabet before they learn to read or write is laboring under a mistaken idea. They had best forget their own ideals and let the school teachers of the modern day handle the educational problem.

However, school is about to close and the pupils will have months of freedom in the open air. It is now up to the parents to take up the work they may have been lax in during the school months and keep watch of their hopefuls that they may grow into strong men and women with pure thoughts and upright minds. The discipline of the school will be over and the responsibility of the parents increases.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

When the Woman's club movement first started, it was caricatured as made up of brainy women who were eccentric in their strong individuality. Club women were regarded as "blue stockings," strong-minded, agitators and propagandists, but not home-keepers and the kind of person a man falls in love with.

The 10th biennial convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs was held in New York. Judging by all reports, it was not true to the original type, or at least the former popular conception of it. These club women seem feminine enough to love dress. At least the dressmakers think so, as they have elaborate style displays to appeal to them. In their party gowns for the entire functions of the meeting, the club women have had all the fascination of the true daughters of Eve.

The clubs appear to be less literary and more civic than formerly. In their earlier days, the principal energy was taken by study of literature and philosophy, and the preparation of papers on various aspects of human knowledge.

They become very learned on Browning and Tennyson, and turned out informative and discriminating papers on Russia and the philosophy of Nietzsche. But meanwhile they might be wholly ignorant of the bad condition of the drains in the next street.

The modern woman's club is more of a civic force. It is felt to be failing of its reason for being, if it does not maintain a working social service department. It is recognized that there are certain lines of perception where men are weak and need prodding. The street cleaners need to be punched up, health boards need to feel the pressure of public sentiment for enforcement of sanitary regulations, motion pictures need supervision, and so on. The field for such effort is limitless, and good work is being done, as the reports at the present meetings indicate.

The fact that a senator delivered a memorial day address in which he deplored the lack of courage nowadays may not prevent him from going back to the capitol and helping postpone action on the Brandeis nomination.

Eloquence at the national conventions does not consist in logical arguments and choice diction, but merely in ability to open your mouth and yell sonorously for an hour and fifteen minutes at a time.

From the way some motorists approach a street crossing filled with pedestrians, one would think they were the French preparing to mow down the Germans at Dead Man's Hill.

Much is being said about the discomforts of summer resorts, but the only discomfort that seems to worry people much is putting up at unfashionable hotels.

Under the new militia law it is believed that recruits will be willing to solemnly swear to attend all the dances and dress parades.

The straw votes on presidential preferences show the drift of sentiment on the part of the people who manage the polling.

The boy whose admission is paid at the door of the circus never seems to enjoy it quite so much as the one who crawls under the tent.

This summer it is said that gypsies are traveling by automobile, and pretty soon the tramps and hoboes will be using them.

Many people are willing to go to church on Sundays when the carburator won't work.

FIVE THOUSAND TAXIES ARE IDLE IN LONDON NOW.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
 London, June 7.—Five thousand taxicabs are idle in London today because so many drivers have joined the colors, and the authorities are being urged to relax the rules so as to permit women and discharged soldiers and sailors to operate them. When the war broke out there were 10,000 licensed taxicabs in London. Taxicab owners say that if Scotland Yard, which has the licensing power, would extend it to women and also lessen the severity of the "knowledge of London" test so as to give a chance to discharged fighting men, the problem would be solved.

I believe few Dentists in the United States are any better equipped, or are doing more advanced work.

I am laboring also to keep my fees down where people can pay them. Although I confess it's up-hill work, in face of the increased costs of everything a dentist has to buy.

AUDITORS FIND CITY BOOKS ARE CORRECT

Report on Accounts of City Treasurer Made to the Council at Meeting Tuesday.

A statement of the city finances and the books and accounts of George W. Muehler, city treasurer, was submitted to the council at their meeting held Tuesday afternoon. H. S. Haggart and William McCue, auditors by the city, made their report to the commission, which was accepted and filed.

A thorough examination and audit of the books and accounts of the treasurer were made for the fiscal year ending April 16th. The auditors found that the cash received from all sources during the year, was properly accounted for, and that all expenditures were supported by warrants, vouchers and bank checks. All of which were verified by the corresponding entries in the cash and check books. All vouchers had the proper signatures of the proper officer and the books given the official "O. K."

The amounts to the credit of the city were verified at the banks and no error of any consequence was found. The fund on hand on the date of the report, amounted to $200,508.96. The treasurer had on hand April 16th, in the regular working funds an available cash balance of $73,456.90, when increased by the accumulated bank interest of $7,030.86 and the income tax collected of 1915 amounting to $14,890.64, this makes a total of $95,378.37. The condition of the city finances as shown by the treasurer's book is most excellent," noted the auditors in closing their report.

The bills for two weeks, amounting to $2,822.37 were allowed and orders drawn for the amounts.

The fifty thousand dollar bonds for the city treasurer were submitted and given final approval in due form, were accepted and filed.

The report of the plumbing inspector, police department, and visiting nurse for the month of May were submitted and approved.

Mayor James A. Fathers was absent from the meeting, being out of the city. The council adjourned until Friday of this week.

WHITE SLAVE FILMS WILL MEAN CENSORS

House of Bondage Believed to Have Failed to Impress Moral Lesson.

There is nothing that will more quickly bring about a local boycott of censorship of moving pictures than such pictures as "The House of Bondage."

This does not necessarily mean that the public does not like to see photographs of this nature, for the movie state they can get their largest crowd attending a "white slave picture," "a vampire picture" or a fact plot that has to do with a fallen woman. The morbid crowds will flock to see them, but the extra money they are secured by this means is worth what it costs.

"The House of Bondage" was suggestive rather than illustrative and doubt some people were disappointed because they knew more, but it is to be hoped these people are in the minority. The number of theatre showing this class of plays is growing smaller every day. The moral lesson they are supposed to teach is not to reach the right people in the right way.

If the younger generation and especially the girls could grasp the moral in this story of Reginald Wright Kauffman, would prevent the girls of today from taking up with strange men, allowing them privileges and putting themselves in their power to the smallest extent. But the question is, how many attend for the purpose of benefiting by the moral?

SENIORS TO PRESENT SCHOOL WITH TOKEN

Graduating Class Will Give School Desk and Chair—Other Activities. Keep Members Busy.

Following out the custom of other graduation classes at the high school, the senior class of this year will present the school with a new desk and chair for the main room, as their class token. The class, at a meeting several weeks ago, considered several articles for a token and finally decided upon the desk and chair. This will make a very appropriate gift as the assembly room is much in need of a new desk. Nevada McCarthy, one of the seniors, will make the presentation speech when the gift is given to the school.

The members of the graduating class will be kept busy the next few days practicing for the commencement exercises that will be given next week. On Monday afternoon the class will give in the high school gymnasium a picnic on the river. It is an annual affair that is looked forward to by the seniors. Tuesday evening will be class night and the exercises will be given in the high school gymnasium. Only the immediate relatives of the seniors are invited to attend this entertainment. The program given on this evening will be a new order, a new class history and prophecy will be given by members of the class and a chorus of seniors will give a few musical selections.

Wednesday afternoon is set aside for the grand pageant which will be presented in the Court House park. Miss Palmer, teacher of the physical education class, has been given the task of planning the pageant. It is a busy time for the members of the school who are to take part in it.

The final commencement exercises will be held in the high school gymnasium on Thursday evening, June 15th. Instead of Friday evening, as was announced in last week's issue, Diplomas will be given to the sixty members of the class on this evening.

PENTACOST BEGAN TUESDAY EVENING

Feast of Weeks of the Ancient Hebrew Rites Being Celebrated.

The Jewish Pentecost, or Feast of Weeks (Shabuoth) will be celebrated this week by Hebrews as nearly as may be after the ancient rites. The celebration began last evening at 7 o'clock, and will continue today and evening and closes Thursday, closing before the sun goes down. The services consist of prayers and singing of the Bible hymns, and reading of the Bible and the Pentateuch. Some times this is not wholly accomplished, however.

The Feast of Weeks derives its name from the fact that it is celebrated seven weeks after the second day of passover. All the biblical injunctions as to the manner in which the feast was to be observed indicate that it was originally agricultural in character. It was in reality a season of thanksgiving for the harvests that had been reaped, beginning with the barley harvest and ending with the wheat harvest at the beginning of the summer. The ceremonial offerings prescribed were in keeping with the God-given gifts of the soil that had been gathered.

In post-biblical times this feast was observed as the anniversary of the birth of Judaism with the promulgation of the law at Sinai. On this "day of the giving of the law," it was called by the rabbis, the ten commandments constitute part of the scripture readings in the synagog. It is the anniversary of the giving of the law, which has been emphasized in the non-agricultural life, which the Jews were compelled to live for centuries.

When the reform synagog introduced the celebration of the feast for late Jewish youth, the pentecost, by virtue of its traditional association with the ancient revelation, was the day most naturally selected for charging the young people with the duty of observing the feast as a religious and moral life.

The agricultural side of the feast, however, was not lost sight of, in that it was customary to decorate home and synagog with plants and flowers of the season. In addition to a portion of the Pentateuch, a portion of the story of Ruth was prescribed in the synagog because the idyllic scene of harvesting which it contains was in keeping with the celebration of the harvest feast. Those observing customs that originated in post-biblical times add a second day to that enjoined in the Bible.

JANESVILLE YOUTH HONORED AT BROWN

Bruce Jeffris, Student at Brown University, is Member of Honorary Society.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Providence, R. I., June 7.—Bruce Mount Jeffris of Janesville, Wis., a member of the Junior class, was one of the first men "tapped" for the Gamma Phi club at Brown University yesterday morning. This club, which is by far the most important of all the Senior organizations at Brown, is made up of the twelve real leaders in college life and to become a member is considered one of the greatest honors that may befall an undergraduate.
The results of the election to this club are never known until after the morning of the election. On the morning in question the members of the club, arrayed in the sombre cap and gown of the graduating class, came marching down the center aisle and quickly formed in line in front of the assemblage made up of the student body, the faculty and interested visitors. Then as quickly each member of the club in turn leaves his position in line and walking up and down the aisles, suddenly pauses, turns, and as quickly with a resounding whack on the back, designates his successor. The newly selected member is then escorted to the front amidst a thunderous round of applause.
To be "tapped" at this time means something to the Brown boys, for it is above all who is considered the most popular. The selection of Jeffris met with unanimous approval. Ever since entering Brown he has been prominent in student activities and has recently been elected captain of the Varsity football team for the coming year. This is considered the most important of all the positions open to competition for the major sports football is responsible for the honor and receives many of the minor branches of athletics.
Other men who were "tapped" for the Gamma Phi were: Thomas B. Apple of New York City; Barnes H. Peabody of Lake Placid, N. Y.; James G. Pernal of Montclair, N. J.; Solon C. Kelley, Jr., of Stamford, Ct.; Paul H. Keough of New York City; James P. Murphy of New Bedford, Mass.; Raymond W. Ward of Newark, N. J.; Walter K. Sprague of North East, Pa.; William W. Wade of Trenton, N. J.; Raymond J. Walsh of Providence, R. I.; and Jasper Wright of Lakewood, N. J.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

The Annette Kellerman picture, which costs $100,000 and took six months to produce, is going to be released before many weeks. The publicity man speaks of the picture in the following eloquent words:

The effect that this picture will create in your mind will be a multiplication of the wonderful pictures you would gather in an evening of reading the more imaginative scenes and descriptions from the Moorish and Turkish stories of Pierre Loti. Eton's Arabian Nights and the atmospheric beauties of the master word painter of a newer generation—Robert Hitchcock, author of "The Garden of Allah," "Barbarian Sheep," "The Call of the Blood," and many other equally tense descriptive novels.

Influenced by none of these stories directly, Herbert Brown, with his remarkable capacity for depicting the unusual and the beautiful, nevertheless has created in his own mind a story embracing the more entrancing and memorable beauties of those that have been enumerated.

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

Alice Brady was tutored for a social life and went on the stage against her father's wishes?

Thomas A. Edison is working on a new and more satisfactory camera?

Mary Miles Minter has been fourteen years old for five years? And that her real name is Juliet Shady and she was a stage player at the age of twelve?

Lorna Volare is the youngest actress in the world, aged thirteen? John Luce made a picture, "The Cowardly Way," with two hundred double exposures?

Anita Pennington, Ziegfeld dancer, soon to be a star, says she knows more about Dickens than about Broadway, and that her favorite novel is "David Copperfield." However, it wasn't art that induced her to act for the movies. When asked what led her to take up the new career she said, "I needed a new car."

Siuri Holmes, gifted villain, is to do his worst according to the promise of the producers when Theda Bara starred in the famous "East Lynne."

"BUNKER BEAN" A DELIGHTFUL COMEDY

Myers Theatre Patrons Given a Treat Last Night in Witnessing "His Majesty Bunker Bean."

Those who braved the storm last evening to see "His Majesty Bunker Bean" at Myers theatre were well repaid by seeing what to Janesville is an exceptional thing in theatricals, the original star with the original company intact, in his support.
The comedy is by Lee Wilson Dodd and was based on the story of the same name by Harry Leon Wilson, which ran as a serial a short time ago in the Saturday Evening Post. Taylor Holmes, the young star, was seen in the title role, Bunker Bean.
The play, as he described it, as a pleasing mixture of light comedy and serious drama, with almost a suspicion of the tragic. The action revolves around a period in the life of Bunker Bean, a serious minded young stonemason, who gained unexpected self-reliance and strength through a belief that he is the re-incarnation not only of Napoleon Bonaparte, but also of Ramses, the powerful after good Egyptian king of ancient times. The newly found confidence in himself transforms Bunker into an energetic business man, so sure of himself that success follows him in business and with the assistance of his sweetheart, in love. The four acts all had to do with Bunker during his state of transition.

'Oos 'Itte Pig Is 'Oo?

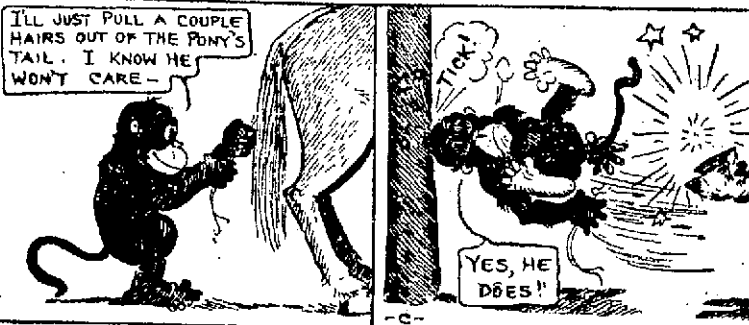

MARGUERITE CLARK, FAMOUS PLAYERS-PARAMOUNT STAR, AND HER TROUBLESOME PET.

Though "This little pig stayed at home," he does not seem to be particularly enjoying the solicitous care which he is receiving at the hands of Molly Make-Believe and her small brother.

"Molly" is Marguerite Clark in the Famous Players-Paramount adaptation of the celebrated story by Eleanor Hallowell Abbott—the pig is himself.
The porker is by no means the only animal which appears in Miss Clark's supporting cast, Director J. Searle Dawley having gathered together a large collection of the leading barnyard citizens in subsequent scenes in the picture.

BOBO, THE MISCHIEVOUS MONK.

Annette Kellerman as she will appear in new picture.

One million dollars was spent on this great Annette Kellerman play, which is to be released this summer. The famous Annette is of course the central figure in the great spectacle, and here's how she'll look.

And there was a moral "As a man thinketh." The dramatist preserved the characters so clearly drawn in the original work by Mr. Wilson. There was "Pops," the financial power, and his daughter, "The Flapper," who marries Bunker's witty-nephew, there is the famous Grandmother, and "The Big Sister" and her lazy young brother, the Waster, and The Greatest Left Hand, Pitcher, The World Has Ever Known, also others who were familiar to those who read the original story and just as interesting to those who had not.

The company, which might be described as being so well cast, as to be almost termed perfect, included Charles Abbe, Robert Kelly, Jack Devoreaux, Walter M. Sherwin, Horace Milton, Bedford Forrest, John Hogan, Harry C. Power, Clarence Shirley, Lillian Lawrence, Clara Louise Moore, Marion Kirby, Grace Peters and Annette Westbay.

BIG SUMMER ENROLLMENT INDUCES VARSITY PAPER TO ISSUE TWICE WEEKLY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, June 7.—Owing to the fact that at least 3,000 students are to attend summer school at the University of Wisconsin the coming summer, the Cardinal official university paper, will be issued twice weekly by a staff of these men, all students. The enrollment for the summer session is the largest in the history of Wisconsin.

Thirty full grown, jungle bred, man-eating African lions in one bunch is a very unusual spectacle—unusual even in these days of great things in every line. More particularly is this true when such a sight may be witnessed for one's entertainment.

Some centuries have passed since Nero introduced man-eating cats as a form of entertainment, and while diabolical scenes such as those perpetrated by him cannot now be witnessed, there are scenes in which lions are used of a decidedly thrilling character.

A sensational, thrilling act of this nature is introduced on the program of the Barnes' Big Fox Ring Wild Animal Circus, the lions being in charge of Herr Louie Roth, one of the world's most famous trainers of wild animals.

The great beasts are assembled in an act, headed by Caesar, said to be the finest and fiercest specimen of his race in captivity. The very same trained lion perfection is represented in this group, and their value is placed at $50,000.

The entire lot is turned loose at one time in the steel-barred arena in the center of the show's big tent. Herr Roth alone in their midst. The masterly control exercised by Roth over the great cats is very remarkable and amazing.

(Notices furnished by the theatres.)

AT THE APOLLO.

Dainty Marguerite Clark at Best.

It is very easy for those who have seen Marguerite Clark on the screen in her previous Famous Players productions to imagine her teasing her indignant grandmother, ordering her small brother around the house, keeping a whole family agog by her impudent refusal to stay home, finally running away from home with her diminutive brother, and commandeering a freight train in order to reach the city where she intends to search for a position.
These are some of the things which she does in the Famous Players-Paramount production of Eleanor Hallowell Abbott's celebrated story and book, "Molly Make-Believe," in which she is a star at the Apollo tonight.

AT BEVERLY THEATRE.

A Graphic Glimpse of Vanishing Race

One of the most notable events of the declining years of the Indians was the Battle of Big Horn when the red men made their last great stand against the whites and massacred General Custer and his force.
To have transferred this gruesome specialties with historical fidelity, to motion pictures was the Herculean task of Cyrus Townsend Brady, who in the Blue Ribbon Feature, "Britton of the Seventh," has wound about the Custer ordeal a stirring drama of tremendous strength and interest. It was produced by the Vitaphone Company at an enormous expense and will be presented at the Beverly Thursday.

AT THE APOLLO.

"The Old Homestead" to be Repeated.

After thirty-two years of unparalleled popularity as a play, during which it was presented to nearly twenty million people, Denman Thompson's immortal rural classic has been converted into a Paramount Picture by the Famous Players Film Company, thus truly immortalizing what may be termed the greatest single triumph of the American stage. The story, though perhaps more widely known than any other play, makes the picture worthy of repetition. The Apollo is bringing it back for Thursday.

AT THE APOLLO.

Pauline Frederick in "Zaza" This superb pietization of the dramatic sensation of the century is "Zaza" which the Apollo is returning on Friday.

That Miss Frederick was the one person fitted by temperament and artistry to give this great character the most resplendent presentation of the screen, everyone will be quick to affirm who has seen her in "The Eternal City" or "Sold," in both of which she startled the motion picture public by her wonderful emotional acting. "Zaza" was produced under the joint direction of Edwin S. Porter and Hugh Ford, who also collaborated in the production of the Famous Players' masterpiece, "The Eternal City," in which Miss Frederick made her screen debut.

Crowding his way among them, armed only with a small whip, he, with sharp words of command, makes every lion go through some maneuver. Mounting them into a pyramid, with Caesar at the top, Roth climbs up and straddles the snarling beast's back. After arranging the animals in a pile on the floor, the trainer lies on the remotest one. The daring of this chap is fairly "devilish," and the audience gets thrill after thrill.

Though of a quiet, unassuming disposition, Roth's control over wild animals is fairly electrifying. When asked if this influence is hypnotic, Roth says he doesn't know. To the onlooker, however, it looks like the simon-pure stuff.

Barnes' Circus will exhibit in Janesville June 8. A mile-long, six-band, four-gallop parade will mark the morning of show day. An added attraction to the circus is Fred Fulton, the Minnesota Giant, who is matched to fight Jess today, just the same for the heavyweight championship of the world. Fulton is training for the fight in the Barnes Circus and positively will appear at each performance in a spectacular boxing bout and training stunt.

Reserved seat tickets are now on sale at the People's drug store. Prompt attention given Mail Orders.

MADAME GADSKI TO SING IN YALE BOWL DESPITE PROTEST

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
New Haven, Conn., June 7.—Dutch Carter, who registered an objection to Mme. Gadski's appearing in "Die Walkure" in the Yale Bowl today because of her husband's German activities, stirred up considerable of a rumpus several weeks ago, but Madame will sing today, just the same. President Hadley said it would make no comment, but that the actor of the university in asking Mme. Gadski to sing at the opera spoke for itself. Prof. Hiram Bingham said he thought Mr. Carter was mixing up Prussian militarism with German singing.

The following protest, which appeared in the Yale News is taken to indicate the sentiment of some of the undergraduates on the question:

To the Chairman of the News:
Sir: I understand that Hook McGloolik has been engaged to supe in a German opera in the Bowl. I have on accurate information that McGloolik's wife is under indictment for stealing three pairs of coolie running pants from Yale in China while serving as a laundress. As a Yale man and especially as an American I want to protest against Hook's engagement to supe in a Yale function.

Yale in China is of immense importance to the modern Chinese and recent utterances of Klig, Fish and Leo, with their "I'm buyin' 'em" (a statement lacking in the fundamentals of English grammar and insultingly insinuating to the person addressed), together with the engagement of Hook makes me sore.

I don't suppose you will publish this because it is too direct, but I hope you will.

Yours till the panties come home. On Wi Wan Lung.
The members of the Elizabethan Club published the following today: To the Chairman of the News:
Sir: The engagement of Mme. Gadski to sing in the Bowl makes Walter F. Carter sore. It don't us. Members of the Elizabethan Club.

AUTO KINKS.

And the Worst Is Yet To Come

Artificial flowers are barred from festival in Portland and the decorated automobiles and vehicles parade of 1916 will be the greatest procession of the queenly bloom ever staged.

Oregon's military, fraternal and civic bodies and marching organizations representing cities of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California will participate in a great pageant Friday.

The same afternoon brings the annual regatta on the Willamette river.

The Oregon metropolis is crowded with visitors from many states.

Special excursions are bringing thousands from over the northwest.

The big event of the afternoon is the national dedication of the Columbia river highway, the roadway making the gorge of the famous Columbia river passable for automobiles and vehicles of all kinds for the first time.

PACIFIC STEAMSHIP WHICH WAS WRECKED WILL BE ABANDONED

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Tokio, June 7.—The Toyo Kaisha Kaishu has decided to abandon the trans-Pacific steamship Chiyu Maru which was wrecked in a storm twenty miles south of Hong Kong twenty. Many American passengers were on the steamer at the time. No lives were lost. The owners expect to receive about $1,550,000 from the insurance companies, who in their turn could, on account of the high war price of iron, dispose of the material in the hull for about $350,000. It is believed.

MRS. THOMPSON
In care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl thirteen years old and I have been going with a boy for six months and like him very much. When we are with other people he doesn't notice me at all. But when we are alone he is very attentive and acts as though he cares for me a great deal. He never wants to go anywhere I don't want to go. But when I don't want to go he always wants to go. (1) Why does he act that way? (2) How can I make him notice me more in society? (3) How much does it cost to use the electric needle to remove superfluous hair? (4) What will take the sunburn out of my face and leave no mark? SNOOKYJMS.

(1) He is contrary and selfish. (2) Let him go his way and you go yours. When he notices that other people find you interesting he will take notice, too. As long as he thinks his attention is all you care for he will be reluctant to give it to you. (3) The cost of removing superfluous hair usually depends upon the extent of the job. The dermatologist would probably charge between a dollar and a half and five dollars an hour. (4) Put half a pint of rich milk into a porcelain kettle and bring to a boil. Skim carefully, and add one-quarter of an ounce of strained lemon juice. Remove from the heat and pour in one-half ounce of white bran.

Hotte when cold, and apply to the face and arms at night with a soft cloth, letting the mixture stay on all night. Wipe over the face and arms again in the morning after washing.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are three girls fourteen, fifteen and sixteen years old.

(1) Are we too young to go out with boys in the evening if the three of us stay together and each of us has a boy friend? (2) Are we too young to go to the picture show together at night if we are not accompanied by our boy friends? (3) Should we give our boy friends our pictures? (4) Are we too young to wear our hair down? (5) Should we let our boy friends wear our rings if we wear their pins? (6) Are we too old to ride bicycles? THREE BLIND MICE.

(1) You are too young to go out evenings. (2) You should not go to the picture show at night unless you are accompanied by an older person. (3) No, it is not customary for girls to give boys their pictures unless they are friends of long standing or engaged. (4) A girl of sixteen is old enough, but girls of fourteen and fifteen look better with their hair down. (5) Do not give boys your rings. It is all right to wear their pins if they want you. (6) No.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man twenty-one years old and I am not living at home. My parents live in a distant city. I am tired of hearing and eating restaurant food. Would you advise me to get married? I make one hundred dollars a month and have saved three hundred and fifty. I have been going with a girl for two years and I am sure she likes me. BIG BILL.

You can stand boarding and residing at home for a few years more, and if you are willing to wait, the rest of your life will be happier than it could be if you married now. A boy of twenty-one has not settled tastes. At twenty-five he usually likes an entirely different type of girl. My advice to you is to wait.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it right to let a girl of thirteen to go to the picture show with a crowd of girls? BEETTY.

It is all right for her to go in the daytime, but not at night.

Household Hints

CANNING AND PRESERVING.

Canned Rhubarb Not Cooked.—Cut stalks of fresh rhubarb into cubes one inch square, stringing as for pickles. Pack closely in fruit jars, fill to overflowing with cold water, seal and stew in a dark place. When needed, stew in the water which has preserved it.

Canning Strawberries.—When canning strawberries turn cans after filling them, on their side and give them a turn once in a while until cold. The berries will not rise to top of can.

To Can Berries.—Any kind of berries may be canned in this way: Fill jars with fruit, then fill even full with cold water. Drain out water and add one or more cups of sugar to each quart of water, or according to taste. Boil sugar and water five minutes and fill each jar with the syrup. Put in the pieces of asparagus to warm; when hot use them as directed above.

Creamed Onions on Toast.—Peel Spanish onions, all of size. Put into a pan covered with water or stock. Add a small blade of mace and cook gently until tender. Drain and keep the onions hot, then add a half cup of cream, a half cup of milk, every fill of this liquid add a heaped teaspoon of flour, moistened with a little cold milk. Bake in moderate oven.

Even the Washerwoman Suffers from the War in City of Berlin.—

Berlin, June 7.—The heavy hand of increased prices probably has fallen nowhere with greater weight than upon the hundreds of washerwomen of Greater Berlin, who do about 90 per cent of the laundry work of the capital. Soap prices have risen by about 550 per cent, starch by more than 400 per cent, and borax by almost 300 per cent. Yet despite these startling increases the washerwomen have remained at about their old figure, and cannot be jacked up appreciably, the washerwomen claim. Even when they are in need of soap they are ridiculously low, judged by the American standard, certainly lower than one would expect to find them after studying the cost of materials necessary for running a laundry.

Asked why they do not increase their prices somewhat at least, the majority of the washerwomen shake their heads and declare that their clients will not stand for it. Most of them express the belief that the time is not far ahead when there will be a radical change in fashions, whereby people will wear darker colored clothes so that much washings will not have to be done.

You owe yourself This Rare Treat after the heavy meats and the canned vegetables of the Winter—with a jaded stomach and rebellious liver—Shredded Wheat With Strawberries—a dish that is deliciously nourishing and satisfying—a perfect meal for the Spring days, and so easily and quickly prepared, For breakfast, for luncheon, or any meal.

Marrying a Butterfly

"The Gordons must be very wealthy," said Margie Forsyth to her husband after their guests had departed. "Did you notice the lovely broadcloth suit she wore when she came? No? That is a small encouragement from you, a woman would have to spend money on clothes."

"Well, take my word for it, the suit was sumptuous and expensive," said Margie. "I bought another Saturday and ran in debt for it. She said she had no money, but she had started down the path her mother walks. That means Gordon must be worth a mint of money, or he will be up to his ears in debt all the time. A man with a wife like that must do what he does in the world in spite of her. Not much 'helpmate' in such a marriage."

"Ethel seems such a good-natured, loving little thing. I cannot imagine her persisting in having things done her husband makes her understand that he cannot afford to get them for her."

"Jack laughed and pinched her ear. 'Is he never could make her understand. It never occurs to her that she can go without anything she wants. I suppose she takes the attitude that her husband must supply her with all necessities of life, and what she wants is a necessity for her, so there you are.'"

"You are hard on her. I cannot believe that she is so heartless. I am sure she is a very nice woman who stand up for their sex."

"Of course you must remember that her education is all against her," argued Jack. "Being a lovely girl up with in her family that it is her business to live in a certain way and never allow her to face any responsibility or have a wish denied and what would you expect of the product?"

"I am not an expert," Margie sighed. "Nevertheless, I believe she is going to be a very good wife. If only she could be waked up."

"God speed the awakening for her husband," Jack said, answered Jack, and the subject was dropped. (To be continued)

TIMELY TIPS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE
VI. Reducing the Meat Bill.

The high cost of living is not entirely the higher price of food stuffs, but the taste for luxury. Too many of us are like the man who said he could not live on less than the necessities if he could have the luxuries.

The meat bill may be easily reduced in three ways, in quality, quantity, or in substitution of other foods. If we want the choicest cuts of meat, we must pay the choicest price. We cannot hope to have fillets of beef or sweet breads at the price of round steak or hamburger.

The wise woman appreciates the value of the cheaper cuts, using the tough portions for long slow casserole cookery in combination with vegetables of various kinds, making a small amount of meat of cheap quality season a good sized dish of vegetables.

Meat on the form may be placed in a cold place where it will keep until the whole animal is used. By smoking, corning and salting the meat it may be kept all summer, thus reducing the summer meat bill.

Sausage, head-cheese and scrapple are most satisfactory methods of using small pieces and undesirable portions. Meat should be hung long enough to develop the flavor which increases in the hanging. The lactic acid then developed softens the connective tissue making the meat more tender.

Very tender meat such as porterhouse steak, may be cooked quickly at first at a high temperature. The tougher portions need long slow cooking to soften the connective tissue and the much used muscles.

In serving the family each day, one should learn the quantity each requires so that the carver has a large responsibility in the reduction of the meat bill. It is better to give a second helping than that good meat be wasted by putting too much on the plate at one time.

There can be no objection in one's own family in using the bits of meat and bones left from the individual plates for the soup pot. This will certainly quantity, or in substitution of other foods. If we want the choicest cuts of meat, we must pay the choicest price. We cannot hope to have fillets of beef or sweet breads at the price of round steak or hamburger.

The wise woman appreciates the value of the cheaper cuts, using the tough portions for long slow casserole cookery in combination with vegetables of various kinds, making a small amount of meat of cheap quality season a good sized dish of vegetables.

Meat on the form may be placed in a cold place where it will keep until the whole animal is used. By smoking, corning and salting the meat it may be kept all summer, thus reducing the summer meat bill.

Sausage, head-cheese and scrapple are most satisfactory methods of using small pieces and undesirable portions. Meat should be hung long enough to develop the flavor which increases in the hanging. The lactic acid then developed softens the connective tissue making the meat more tender.

Very tender meat such as porterhouse steak, may be cooked quickly at first at a high temperature. The tougher portions need long slow cooking to soften the connective tissue and the much used muscles.

In serving the family each day, one should learn the quantity each requires so that the carver has a large responsibility in the reduction of the meat bill. It is better to give a second helping than that good meat be wasted by putting too much on the plate at one time.

There can be no objection in one's own family in using the bits of meat and bones left from the individual plates for the soup pot. This will certainly

What Is Uric Acid?

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL AND SUDDEN DEATH.

Ever since the discovery of uric acid in the blood by Scheele, in 1775, and the bad effect it had upon the body, scientists and physicians have striven to rid the tissues and the blood of this poison. Because of its overabundance in the system it causes backache, pains here and there, rheumatism, gout, gravel, neuralgia and sciatica. It was Dr. Pierce who discovered a new agent, called "Anuric," which will throw out and completely eradicate this uric acid from the system. "Anuric" has proved to be 37 times more potent than lithia, and consequently you need no longer fear muscular or articular rheumatism or gout, or many other diseases which are dependent on an accumulation of uric acid within the body. Send to Dr. Pierce, of the Invalidee Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., for a pamphlet on "Anuric," or send 10 cents for a trial package of "Anuric Tablets." If you feel that tired, worn-out feeling, backache, neuralgia, or if your sleep is disturbed by too frequent urination, go to your best drug store and ask for Doctor Pierce's Anuric Tablets.

Doctor Pierce's reputation is back of this medicine and you know that his "Golden Medical Discovery" for the blood and his "Favorite Prescription" for the kidneys of women have had a splendid reputation for the past fifty years.

Iron in Water.
Half a part to the million of iron in water is detectable by taste, and more than four or five parts make water unpalatable. In some mineral springs iron is the constituent which imparts a medicinal value to the water, but ordinarily it is undesirable. More than 2.5 parts a million in water used for laundering makes a stain on the clothes. Iron must be removed from water from which ice is made, or a cloudy, discolored product will result. An iron content of more than two or three parts a million in water used in the manufacture of paper will stain the paper.

Heed the Warning If You Have a Cough!

The deep-seated cough that does not yield to ordinary treatment may lead to distressing pulmonary troubles. Or it may bring on a chronic bronchial affection. Many persons now incapacitated might have avoided such disastrous results by timely care and efficient medical treatment.

Among the latter Eckman's Alternative has an enviable record. It is a lime-bearing preparation which is easily assimilated in most instances. Where used in connection with nourishing food and proper living, it has given widespread relief.

Its freedom from poisonous or habit-forming drugs of any nature whatsoever renders it safe to try. And its content of calcium gives it tonic value.

"You mustn't mind," he said, gently. "He's been getting some pretty severe shocks. What you've told me makes me pretty sorry for him. Bibbs, I've always been sure he's very big."

"Yes, big and—blind. He's like a Hercules without eyes and without any consciousness except that of his strength and of his purpose to grow stronger. Stronger for what? For nothing."

"Are you sure, Bibbs? It can't be for nothing. It must be stronger for something, even though he doesn't know what it is. Perhaps what he and his kind are struggling for is something so great they couldn't see it—so great none of us could see it."

"No, he's just like some blind, unconscious thing heaving underground."

"Till he breaks through and leaps out into the daylight," she finished for him, cheerily.

"Into the smoke," said Bibbs. "Look at the powder of coal-dust already dirtying the decent snow, even though it's Sunday. That's from the little pigs; the big ones aren't so bad, on Sunday! There's a flock of soot on your cheek. Some pig sent it out into the air; he might as well have thrown it on you. It would have been braver, for then he'd have taken his chance of my whipping him for it if I could."

"Is there soot on my cheek, Bibbs? Is there?"

"Is there? There are soot on your cheeks. Mary—a flock on each. One landed since I mentioned the first."

She halted immediately, giving him her handkerchief, and he succeeded in transferring most of the black from her face to the cambric. They were entirely matter-of-course about it.

An elderly couple it chanced, had been walking behind Bibbs and Mary for the last block or so, and passed ahead during the removal of the soot.

"There!" said the elderly wife. "You're always wrong when you begin guessing about strangers. Those two young people aren't honeymooners at all—they've been married for years. A blind man could see that."

"I wish I knew who threw that soot on you," said Bibbs, looking up at the neighboring chimneys, as they went on. "They arrest children for throwing snowballs at the street cars, but—"

"But they don't arrest street cars for shaking all the pictures in the houses pay; there's only money. And only some of the men down town get much of that. That's what my father wants me to get."

"Yes," she said, smiling to him, and nodding. "And you don't want it, and you don't need it."

"But you don't think I'm a sleep-walker, Mary?" He had told her of his father's new plans for him, though he had not described the vigor and picturesqueness of their setting forth.

"You think I'm right?"

"A thousand times!" she cried. "There aren't so many happy people in this world, I think—and you say you've found what makes you happy. If it's a dream—keep it!"

"The thought of going down there—into the money shuffle—I hate it as I never hated the shop!" he said. "I hate it! And the city itself, the city that the money shuffle has made—just look at it! And the dirt and the ugliness and the rush and the noise mean—that's the worst! The outward things are insufferable, but they're only the expression of a spirit—a blind embryo of a spirit, not yet a soul—oh, just greed! And this 'go ahead' nonsense! Oughtn't it all to be a fellowship? I shouldn't want to get ahead if I could—I'd want to help the other fellow to keep up with me."

"I read something the other day and remembered it for you," said Mary. "It was something Burns-Jones said of a picture he was going to paint: 'In the first picture I shall make a man walking in the street of a great city, full of all kinds of happy life: children, and lovers walking, and ladies leaning from windows all down great lengths of street leading to the city walls; and there the gates are wide open, letting in a space of green field and cornfield in harvest; and all round his head a great rain of swirling autumn leaves blowing from a little waterfall graveyard.'"

"And if I painted," Bibbs returned, "I'd paint a lady walking in the street of a great city, full of all kinds of uproarious and futile life—children being taught only how to make money, and lovers hurrying to get richer, and ladies who'd given up trying to wash their windows clean, and the gates of the city wide open, letting in slums and slaughter houses and freight yards, and all round this lady's head a great rain of swirling soot—"

He paused, thoughtfully. "And yet I believe I'm glad that soot got on your cheek. It was just as if I were your brother—the way you gave me your handkerchief to rub it off for me. Still, Edith never—"

"Didn't she?" said Mary, as he paused again.

"No, and I—" He contented himself with shaking his head instead of offering more definite information. Then he realized that they were passing the new house, and he sighed profoundly. "Mary, our walk's almost over."

She looked as blank. "Soot is Bibbs."

They said no more until they came to her gate. As they drifted slowly to a stop, the door of Roscoe's house opened, and Roscoe came out with Sibyl, who was startlingly pale. She seemed little enfeebled by her illness, however, walking rather quickly at her husband's side and not taking his arm. The two crossed the street without appearing to see Mary and her companion, and, entering the new house, were lost to sight. Mary gazed after them gravely, but Bibbs, looking at Mary, did not see them.

"Mary," he said, "you seem very serious. Is anything bothering you?"

"No, Bibbs." And she gave him a bright, quick look that made him instantly unreasonably happy.

"I know you want to go in—" he began.

"Yes. Why did you stop wearing them?"

"Because I found I'd be warmer without them!" She caught his hand quickly in her own for an instant, laughed into his eyes, and ran into the house.

"But you don't think I'm a sleep-walker, Mary?"

"I mustn't keep you standing here, and I mustn't go in with you—but I just wanted to say—I've seemed very stupid to myself this morning, grumbling about soot and all that—while all the time—Mary, I think it's been the very happiest of all the hours you've given me. I do. And—I don't know just why—but it's seemed to me that it was one I'd always remember. And you," he added, falteringly, "you look so—so beautiful today!"

"It must have been the soot on my cheek, Bibbs."

"Mary, will you tell me something?" he asked.

"I think I will."

"It's something I've had a lot of theories about, but none of them ever just fits. You used to wear furs in the fall, but now it's so much colder, you don't—you never wear them at all any more. Why don't you?"

Her eyes fell for a moment, and she grew red. Then she looked up gayly. "Bibbs, if I tell you the answer will you promise not to ask any more questions?"

"Yes. Why did you stop wearing them?"

"Because I found I'd be warmer without them!" She caught his hand quickly in her own for an instant, laughed into his eyes, and ran into the house.

"I read something the other day and remembered it for you," said Mary. "It was something Burns-Jones said of a picture he was going to paint: 'In the first picture I shall make a man walking in the street of a great city, full of all kinds of happy life: children, and lovers walking, and ladies leaning from windows all down great lengths of street leading to the city walls; and there the gates are wide open, letting in a space of green field and cornfield in harvest; and all round his head a great rain of swirling autumn leaves blowing from a little waterfall graveyard.'"

"And if I painted," Bibbs returned, "I'd paint a lady walking in the street of a great city, full of all kinds of uproarious and futile life—children being taught only how to make money, and lovers hurrying to get richer, and ladies who'd given up trying to wash their windows clean, and the gates of the city wide open, letting in slums and slaughter houses and freight yards, and all round this lady's head a great rain of swirling soot—"

He paused, thoughtfully. "And yet I believe I'm glad that soot got on your cheek. It was just as if I were your brother—the way you gave me your handkerchief to rub it off for me. Still, Edith never—"

"Didn't she?" said Mary, as he paused again.

"No, and I—" He contented himself with shaking his head instead of offering more definite information. Then he realized that they were

Chemists Say That No Natural Waters Are Absolutely Pure

"We cannot tell by analysis with certainty that a water is or is not actually infected with disease germs. I do not mean that it is absolutely impossible to say that a water contains, for instance, germs of typhoid fever, for typhoid germs may be and have been isolated from water samples, but our tests are not so reliable that if we obtain a negative result we could say that the water was not infected."

CUBS POUND VICTORY OVER THE PHILLIES

Vaughn Stops Champions While Cubs Make Good Use of Sticks—Score Idle Tuesday.

Chicago's clouting Cubs had no trouble in defeating the championship Phillies without extending themselves at Philadelphia Tuesday, by the score of 8 to 3. The Cubs mauling three pitchers or fourteen hits, including a four base clutch by Sauer. During the Cub batting practice Hippo Vaughn stopped the Phillies with ease, and as long as there was any danger Vaughn stopped the champs with a zero.

Elena Rixey was roundly abused for a spell, and then Moran trotted out Mayer, whom the Cubs mauling for four straight hits, good for extra bases, so Deschager was placed on the mound. Despite his name he stopped the Cubs from making the outfield weary.

Rain prevented the White Sox from playing. Connie Mack's high school wonders at Chicago yesterday. Connie Mack is rebuilding his team and is doing a good job of it. He has drawn youngsters into the big league to take the place of his championship stars, and the kids are making good under his coaching. Red Faber is scheduled to pitch against the Macks today.

Pittsburgh took its first game of the series from New York, 3 to 2. Menahem held the Giants to five hits, while Pittsburgh bunched their hits off Benton in three innings, and this is the first game Benton has lost this season. The element of luck is playing a heavy factor in the Giants' favor for every game is decided by a narrow margin.

Brooklyn took the first game with Cincinnati by the count of 7 to 4, at Brooklyn. All the Robin's runs were earned, and the game was clinched when Daubert hit a home run and Wheat hit a double. The Reds got to bunt their way through, except in three of the rounds.

In the American, Detroit blanked Boston, 3 to 0, when Dauss proved a puzzle to the Red Sox. Dauss held the champs to hits and they did not get a man past second until the ninth.

DECLARE BOUT IS OFF BETWEEN WELSH AND WHITE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] New York, June 7.—Billy Gibson, who promotes boxing shows in this city and who arranged for the passage of several American boxers to South America, stated on Tuesday that the twenty round championship bout between Charlie White and Freddie Welsh, scheduled to be fought in Buenos Aires, but fallen through because the two fighters could not come to terms.

Billy declared he is willing to give Welsh $25,000 for a championship match with Benny Leonard in place of White, but Harp, promoter of Welsh, refuses to accept the offer.

Several other prominent boxers will make the trip to South America. Sam Laughton, Harry Wills, Joe Jeannette and Sam McVey, before heavy weights, will make the trip and will battle for the supremacy in the colored heavyweight class. Ted Kid Lewis, the English welterweight, and Albert Badoud, the French welterweight, will also make the trip and will battle for the world's welterweight honors.

It is likely that Hughie Jennings will have to return his last year's outfield and use Sam Crawford in right.

MORRIS MILLER

Students of the University of Vermont are laying out a new athletic field at the Burlington institution. About 350, are engaged in the work. The field, when completed, will include a baseball diamond, football gridiron, and a good sized track.

The Nashville club has turned over Al Bridwell to Atlanta. It seems Charley Frank has not lost his faith in the coach in spite of the miserable showing they have made, for he also has taken Pitcher Ad Brennan back after once giving him his release. Nashville secured Bridwell from the St. Louis Browns but did not use him. Bridwell played with Atlanta in 1902. Several years later, when with the Giants, he engaged in a memorable fight that McGraw's men had on the field in Atlanta during an exhibition game, but Atlanta fans will forgive him if he can deliver the goods.

Donald Beck, Columbia University star left-hand pitcher, denies that he has signed a contract to play with the Detroit Tigers at the end of the season. Those who know Beck believe that he has promised to sign a Detroit contract and has made his promise as ironclad as possible, although he has not yet signed the instrument itself, because he does not desire to jeopardize his amateur standing at Columbia until the season is over.

St. Mary's college, Kansas, has been invited by Kyoto university, Japan, to send a baseball team on a tour of the orient next fall.

There is a lot of Smiths playing in the National League this year. The Pirates have a Smith and Schmidt. There is Jack Smith with the Cardinals, and Boston has Red Smith, famous third sacker. Sherrod Smith is the southpaw hurler of the Dodgers.

Kansas City is making a poor race of it so far when one looks over the excellent talent that Owen George Feber has hired. The blame for the showing now is laid strictly at the feet of Manager Dan Shay, writes H. A. Miller in the Columbus Dispatch. The Kansas City team isn't the leader he was several years ago, and he will be lucky to hold his job the season through. Shay isn't riding the water wagon any too steadily and it is hurting his influence on the club and his ability to direct his team. Some of the players are beginning to kick on the strategy proposed by Shay and that will ultimately result in dissolution.

The American league season is almost two months old. The first games were staged on April 12, but the real fight for the pennant will scarcely be inaugurated until after the Fourth of July. At that time all the teams will have shaped themselves and you can look for a real baseball encounter from then until Labor Day and after. To date the Cleveland Indians and the Washington Nationals have been hogging the spotlight in the Johnsonian organization; and it has been dividing the honor of holding on first place. But it does not necessarily follow that either the Redskins or Nationals will win the flag.

Roddie Mahan, Harvard's crack varsity pitcher, is an amateur, but he has the professional attitude if what comes from Boston is true. According to the story, representative of Mahan's approach, Lee Fohl, manager of the Cleveland club, and asked what bonus he would give Mahan for signing a contract. "Bonus," replied Fohl. "Get off your foot. Tell this Mahan person to come out to the ball park and let me look him over. If he's any good I'll give him a trial. If he isn't I'll take back the uniform." Mahan may be a fine college pitcher. But there have been a number of fine college pitchers who turned out to be bloomers in fast company.

Ray Morgan, of the Senators, is proving to be quite a find as a lead-off man. He has been getting on base once or twice in every game so far since he has been at the top of the list, and that is very helpful.

SIMPSON HITS THREE-BAGGER AND BADGERS BEAT JAPS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Madison, Wis., June 7.—Eber Simpson, Badger first baseman, knocked a three bagger in the tenth inning of the last international match between Wisconsin and Waseda College of Japan, and turned what looked like a defeat into a victory for the Badgers, score being 5 to 4. Kishi, the little Nipponese pitcher, pitched a wonderful game for the oriental nine and nearly beat Wisconsin in the last game of the season. Lefty Neuschwander and Ed Cusick had a hard time holding the Japs. There was nearly a break in diplomatic relations in the ninth, when Pederson was hit by a batted ball, but the dispute was compromised and a hit by Fox made the affair a tie.

MAY ORGANIZE NEW TENNIS CLUB AT "Y"

Secretary Bearmore Has Option on Two Locations for Tennis Courts if Interest is Shown.

For the past few weeks among the members of the Young Men's Christian Association there has been a call for tennis courts and the organization of a tennis club that would not be limited as to the number of members. Secretary Bearmore has held an investigation in regards to locations where courts might be laid out and he has found two good places. One place offers chances for a good cement court at a low cost but it is not near the Association building. Another lot which could be obtained is near the building but it only offers room for one single court.

If enough men over sixteen years of age are interested in the proposition that confronts the Association a good live tennis club could be organized. A meeting will be held this evening at seven-thirty o'clock and all those interested should be present. The Association has no tennis courts except the so-called "M. C. A." courts that are located on West Milwaukee street that are run by an organization that has a limited membership. Should a new organization be formed open to any one in the city who is interested in the great summer game would be possible.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Detroit, Mich., June 7.—More than 8,000 active members were represented at the annual convention of the Holstein Friesian Association which opened here this forenoon. The convention will close tonight with a banquet.

Discussions of various topics concerning the breeding of Holstein cattle and a public sale of choice stock were the leading features of the convention which has brought cattlemen to Detroit from many sections of the country. About 180 Holstein animals were to be sold this afternoon at the state fair grounds, near Detroit. Delegates declared it would not be surprising if record prices were paid for some of the stock.

One of the Detroit leading hotels, which is the convention headquarters, agreed to entertain several hundred calves. These animals, said to be the most valuable specimens of their breed, were to be exhibited in the lobby of the hotel this afternoon. One of the chief purposes of the association is to encourage breeding of high class stock.

Among the speakers on the convention program were Carl Vroman, assistant secretary of agriculture, Prof. A. C. Anderson of the Michigan Agricultural College, and Dr. J. Kellogg of Battle Creek.

PHOTOGRAPH HEARTBEATS OF RECRUITS FOR ENGLAND

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, June 7.—Photographs of the heart beats of recruits for the British army now form part of a new military examination adopted by the military authorities. These are being made in a London hospital where men whose hearts vary in the least from normal are put through a series of tests by some of the greatest specialists in heart complaints in England. The new method is said to obviate the danger of accepting as recruits men whose hearts are not sound enough to stand the rigors of soldiery.

"Please run up those stairs to the roof and back," the recruit is told by one of the medical examiners.

On his return to the ground floor his pulse rate, breathing rate, and blood pressure are taken and compared with the pulse rate, etc. obtained before the candidate went climbing. After a rest of three minutes the pulse and blood pressure are again measured.

The knowledge of the general condition of the heart obtained by these and the other routine methods of heart examinations is not enough, however, and the candidate is next taken into the electro-cardiograph room. Here he sits with one bare foot and his two hands in separate basins of water. Wires lead from the basins to a complicated electrical apparatus, which, in a word, photographs on a moving sensitized film the electrical currents generated by the different chambers of the heart in beating.

THE WOMEN'S COUNCIL

Edited by MRS. ABBIE HELMS

"Let Us Meet and Counsel Together"

"SEZ HE." As publicity for the remedy for most political ills, women in politics function admirably.—The Misanthrope.

THE BIENNIAL CONVENTION.

The history of this notable event recently held in New York City is a story of great achievements bravely attempted and worthily accomplished. Some one has christened this body of women "The third house of congress." And when it convenes for its regular meetings it has certainly the highest aims and purposes in view and gives them the most serious attention and study. The program of its meeting would include most of the vital problems of the day, and the list of their speakers for the recent ten day meeting comprising the names of the experts of the country on their special topics. Julia Lathrop gave an address on "The Work of the Children's Bureau, Franklin Lane on "The Natural Wealth of the United States," and Thomas Mott Osborne on "The Education in Prison Reforms." John Finley, commissioner of education of the state of New York, took up the problem of the subject dealing with the education of the immigrant.

Judge William H. Wadsworth spoke as a representative of the "League to Enforce Peace." Thomas Adams spoke for the cities department on "Town Planning." The convention did not adjourn for Memorial Day, but worked straight through from the opening exercises, when they sang "America," until the close of the evening's program. Miss Mabel B. Johnson gave an account of "The American Red Cross in War and Peace," and Dr. Henry Noble McCracken, president of the American Red Cross, gave a talk on "The American Red Cross in War and Peace." Dr. C. E. Winslow of the Yale Medical School, gave a paper on "What to Do for Public Health." During the convention a social dinner was held at 4 o'clock in the ball room of the Astor hotel, where Dr. Percy Stickney, Grant gave an address on "Women's New Place," and delightful music was rendered by a choir. Other noted speakers were Samuel Ordway of the New York state commission, Richard H. Dana, Dudley Field Malone, and many others. Religion was taken up when the topic "What Religion Has Done for the World" was discussed by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise. Father John L. Heil of Brooklyn and Rev. Charles Jefferson of the Broadway Tabernacle.

A reception and dinner was given at the McAlpen hotel on one evening to the delegates from foreign lands. Mrs. Thomas Mott Osborne, who was toastmistress and the guests included Lord and Lady Aberdeen of Scotland, Miss Nieha Kawai of Japan, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, and delegates from Cuba, Buenos Ayres, Montreal, and many other foreign cities.

One of the new features inaugurated by the convention was the measure increasing the board of directors to include one from each state, thus making the number about fifty. The lady elected to this office from Wisconsin is Mrs. F. Blech. The contest for the office of president was simplified by the withdrawal from the list of Mrs. George Bass of Chicago, who absolutely declined to be a candidate. The election resulted in the choice of Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of California, who seems to be a very satisfactory arrangement. This election is supposed to be not only a victory for the more liberal western spirit of the convention, but also for the idea of suffrage, as California is a suffrage state, and for the universal thought of preparedness as Mrs. Cowles is known to favor that cause.

No doubt the Janesville delegates will come home from the convention full of enthusiasm and new ideas helping to all, and it is hoped that some time in the early fall an open meeting of the City Federation may be arranged where they may have a chance to tell some of the good things they have heard, that other club women may profit by their experience.

THE PROBLEM OF THE MOVIES.

This question is looming large before the public and because of its potential influence for good or evil it has been taken up by the club women of the country, who are anxious to do what they can to purify and elevate its presentation. Mrs. W. A. Hamburger, an official of the Drama League of America, says of it: "Moving Pictures are still in their infancy. There are very interesting educational and propaganda pictures, there are those with great beauty of scenery and charming pantomime; there are attractive transcriptions of popular novels and plays. But we cannot yet call the medium of the cinematograph a fine art. I believe that a beautiful unique art, with the moving picture as the medium, will develop in the future, and I believe we of the Drama League can hasten that day."

"By encouraging the picture of promise, by ignoring the ugly and vulgar, and by formulating standards of quality, we play a fair god-mother to the Cinderella of the drama. Our reward will be a greater democratization of the drama, which is one of the objects of our existence. The moving picture audiences have come in time and in part only, of course, drama audiences. After three or four million people have seen Edith Wharton, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Forbes Robertson and Tyrone Power in pictures a large percentage of these who have never known these names before will become interested in and eager to see these artists in the spoken drama. A large percentage who never knew the names of Shakespeare, Ibsen, Shaw, Schiller, Hauptmann, Piller or Augustus Thomas will be initiated into the art of these dramatists and will acquire a taste for their work."

Mrs. Hamburger goes on to make an able argument for the assistance of the Drama League in getting better pictures. She even suggests a resolution that the moving picture committee be appointed to do for the silent drama what the league is trying to do for the spoken drama. The question has been taken up and treated in many different ways by different organizations of women. The Biennial Convention of last week in New York City devoted one of its sessions to the consideration of ways and means toward the betterment of the use of the film pictures and the moving use of the better and higher examples of the art. Some of the leading magazines are devoting space in every issue to the consideration of these topics. A list is now being compiled of the best pictures and those especially chosen for family parties. A copy of a corrected list of children's plays will be sent to every desiring it. Every means is afforded for the betterment of the films and yet sometimes a picture will be shown in our local theatres which is an affront to decent people and a source of danger in its veiled suggestion to the younger set. The local managers are really to blame. They patronize the best companies as they know of them and take what they recommend and what they think the public want. But do the public demand the right kind of off-colored article, or do the majority of the patrons of the theatre wish a high standard of morality and the better, sweeter, nobler type of play? We believe that consistent experience shows that the higher class films win the long run even with the careless, happy-go-lucky attendant of the average moving picture house. The "Neer Do Well," even at increased prices, played to crowded houses recently. Mary Pickford won her enviable position through her sweet, wholesome domestic plays, as well as by her charming personality. Currier as portrayed by Geraldine Farrar, though a little too fervid and realistic, was yet in the main artistic and had a good patronage. The best artists of the spoken drama are being won over to try their fortunes with the movie people. Sir Herbert Tree has recently given a beautiful portrayal of Macbeth for the motion pictures. He says of this art that it has greater possibilities in the "silent way" than the spoken drama. The latter is limited in area and scope. All the gorgeous pageantry of crowds in motion, of scenery of woods and dale and castle and domain keep can be seen in a realistic play on the screen. Sarah Bernhardt was attracted to the film drama by a wish to perpetuate her artistic work for future generations to enjoy after her death. The theatre and the cinema look out for the future seems to be from the fact that the leading companies in film production appreciate the attitude of the public toward the theatre and the cinema and are co-operating with them in every way possible. One attempt the Paramount people are making to interest their patrons is to find out what the public desire in the line of plays. They wish to have the managers of the theatres where their plays are shown pass out coupons with their tickets. These are to be given to the public and in with a word of approval or of protest of the special play shown. Thus the public can voice the approval or make comments on the film displayed. And the company signs a plan for future work along the line of criticism shown. Something along this line of work calls for concerted action among the women's clubs of the city. But it is a hard job to get done without a burden to anyone if concerted action was taken together. And the local managers are willing to co-operate in every way possible to feature the most acceptable productions, and to work along the line most desired by the better element of the city.

REPORT OF EDGERTON CITY FEDERATION.

Given at Delavan April 26.

The City Federation held its first meeting Oct. 15, at which time a report from the state convention was given by Mrs. Hurd W. Wadsworth and others. Many good things from the various addresses were brought back to us. The last week in October to promote the good feeling and help to make the teachers and parents better acquainted. A delightful program was given and light refreshments served. In November we expected to have Miss Wales from the university speak on the Wisconsin peace plan, but as she was just sailed with the Ford peace party, her place was taken by Dr. Anderson of the Extension, who gave an excellent explanation of her plans. At December all federation plans centered around the community Christmas tree. The federation started the ball rolling and was joined by every organization and lodge in the city, all giving of both time and money. Much help was given to the serving poor in the form of coal, clothing and food. Many well filled baskets were sent out on Christmas eve. At the Christmas celebration proper the children sang carols and each one was given a bag of candy. Not all the money donated was expended and is still in the hands of a local committee, to whom applications for charity have been made from time to time.

THE SALE OF RED CROSS SEALS.

The sale of Red Cross seals was undertaken by the federation. The children were given the freedom of the city for one day and one half of the proceeds of the sale, $25 each, has been given to worthy young people who have had lately go to the Wales sanitarium.

Early in the year a committee was appointed to get new clubs into the City Federation. Through these efforts three new clubs have joined us, so now we have six clubs with a membership of 125.

Early in the year plans were made for the observance of Baby Week. The Domestic Science class made an ideal layette for which the federation furnished the material. This was exhibited in different stores of the city during baby week. A lecture on baby welfare was given by Dr. Hovt of Milwaukee, in which we were much interested. Reciprocity Day was held March 28 and was a great success. The ladies of the Norwegian church served a delightful luncheon, after which we repeated to our friends in the library and listened to two special addresses, one by Mrs. Murdoch of Beloit on the establishment and working of the Beloit Social Center, and one by Mrs. Strathorn on the federation as an educational factor. She gave us many good thoughts on the benefit of the federation in its broader sense.

Jan. 25 a reception was given to the three new clubs with an address of welcome, talk on federation work in general, and a talk on ways and means of elevating the standard of the movies. And the Federation observed Shakespeare day with music and action from "The Taming of the Shrew," "Julius Caesar," and "Henry Fifth," and a dance from "Mitsummer Nights Dream."

THE CIVIC DEMONSTRATION OF PREPAREDNESS IN CHICAGO.

Merely as a sign of the times, the part that the women played in the great civic parade on Saturday last in Chicago was significant. Rich and poor, young and old joined in the march and stood shoulder to shoulder in the procession. Mrs. F. C. Palmer, who was one of those who marched the three miles of the route, said of it: "I enjoyed the march last night. I am a firm believer in preparedness, and we need it. I think this was one of the most awe-inspiring sights I have ever seen. It was actually thrilling, and made one glad and happy to be a marcher."

There were estimated to be over 15,000 women in the procession, and when they first appeared the outlook was disfavor, but the crowd grew to heights of enthusiasm, and the factious remarks directed at first toward the women marchers died away in the presence of this parade of women marchers in numbers such as had never been seen.

The crowd grew more and more tense as the thousands of flags waving banner passed. The cry of this feeling was reached with the first banner seen in the parade—a small square of white emblazoned: "Are We Worth Defending?"

As it came down the lined streets the answer came from every throat along the walks. The man on the walk whose comments appeared to be a symbolic outline of the sentiment of all the watchers said: "The man who wouldn't give all he had to defend this host of women is too cowardly to deserve life and the respect of his fellows."

THE MEETING OF THE SUMMER CLUB.

The first picnic of the season, held at the Y. M. C. A. building on June 1, was a great success both in point of attendance, the excellent dinner, and the especially fine program. The treasurer's report was not ready, but a goodly sum was realized on the dinner. The new treasurer, Mrs. Kimbrey, will undoubtedly have the books in shape so as to be able to give a more detailed report at the next meeting. The philanthropic board, through Mrs. Scott, gave an account of the debt still owing on the cook books which were printed to aid the cause. This debt should be paid off as soon as possible, as it was voted at this meeting that every member should buy at least one or better, two of these books. Many members availed themselves of the opportunity and purchased liberally. The next meeting of the club will be at Emerald Grove June 29.

GIRLS' CLUBS.

An article has recently appeared in the papers in which a California woman suggests that girls' clubs patterned after women's clubs be organized of much value to girls and the community, and she is planning to start one, which she says will be the first of its kind. In this latter matter she is mistaken, as Wisconsin has several clubs of this kind. A very large club in East Claire is now only in its second year and has more than 900 members. The president is Miss Edith Fitzgerald. The club has a cafeteria in connection with it for the benefit of its members, where luncheon and dinner are served daily except Sunday. The cafeteria is self supporting. The De la Crosse girls club was organized under the direction of Mrs. C. C. C. and the girls will study civics, sanitation, cooking and sewing. The president is Miss Cecil Rooney.

W. C. T. U.

The local union of the W. C. T. U. are meeting this afternoon with Mrs. Mairland Palmer, on Logan street. Mrs. H. A. Palmer, superintendent of the city, has a paper on "The Mother's Relation to Child-hood," and Mrs. Ellen Coff will conduct her class in "Lessons in Law."

THE LAONI BAND.

This organization meets on Thursday, June 14 at the Congregational church. Tea at 4:15, with the hostesses Mrs. William Tallman and Mrs. George Symam. Program, "Three Secret's Told," by Miss Edna Jacobson.

CIVIC LEAGUE.

There will be a regular meeting of the Civic League on next Monday, June 12, at the city hall. There is some business to be finished before the adjournment for the summer.

COMMON AMERICAN BIRDS.

INTERESTING INFORMATION ABOUT THEM SUPPLIED BY THE BUREAU OF BIOLOGICAL SURVEY OF THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

SPARROW HAWK.

(Falco sparverius)

Length, about ten inches. This is one of the best known and handsomest, as well as the smallest, of North American hawks.

Range. Breeds throughout the United States, Canada, and northern Mexico; winters in the United States and south to Guatemala.

Habits and economic status: The sparrow hawk, which is a true falcon, lives in the more open country and builds its nest in hollow trees. It is abundant in many parts of the West, where telegraph poles afford it convenient perching and feeding places. Its food consists of insects, small mammals, birds, spiders, and reptiles. Grasshoppers, crickets, and terrestrial beetles and caterpillars make up considerably more than half its subsistence, while field mice, house mice, and shrews cover fully 25 per cent of its annual supply. The balance of the food includes birds, reptiles, and spiders. Contrary to the usual habits of the species, some individuals during the breeding season capture nestling birds for food for their young and create considerable havoc among the songsters of the neighborhood. In agricultural districts when new ground is broken by the plow, they sometimes become very tame, even alighting for an instant under the horses in their endeavor to seize a worm or insect. Out of 410 stomachs examined, 314 were found to contain insects; 129, small mammals; and 70, small birds. This little falcon renders good service in destroying noxious insects and rodents and should be encouraged and protected.

GRADUATING EXERCISES AT MILTON HIGH SCHOOL: SENIORS PRESENT PLAY

Milton, June 7.—The graduating exercises of Milton high school occurred Thursday night, June 1, at the college auditorium. The stage was beautifully decorated in the class colors, red and white. The high school orchestra furnished appropriate music. The address of the evening was given by Rev. Fred W. Harris of Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin. His lecture on the subject "The Man Who Found Himself" was of especial merit. Fourteen young people received diplomas, seven boys and an equal number of girls.

Class Play.

The annual senior class play given Tuesday night was one of the chief events of the commencement week. The cast of this clever comedy was well taken by the members of the graduating class. Everyone seemed to fit into his part, and the interpretation was excellent.

Howell Randolph, "the fake aunt," Kathryn Clarke, "Donna Lucia D'Alvarez," David Smith, Stephen Speltz; Robert Gray, Sir Francis Chesney; Clifford Thomas, and Rolland Maxson as two Oxford students, and their college sweethearts, Lucy Hudson and Elizabeth Petherston, formed a great quartet. Ruth Brigham as the little girl in love with "Charley's" aunt, from Brazil, Lawrence Babcock and Benjamin Kraus as the "butler" and "footman" were there with the "Yes, sir, I will, sir."

Saturday night the alumni social was held at the college gym. About one hundred were present. All graduating classes since 1909 were represented by at least one member, and some of the more recent years by almost the entire class. Each class put on a stunt, and some of them were indeed very clever and original. The program of the evening was as follows:

Grand March.

Initiation of the Class of 1916.

Class Stunts.

Business Meeting.

Refreshments.

Toast: Dr. B. F. Johnson, Battle Creek, Mich.; Principal R. L. Hurley, Milton; Blanche Rice, Evansville; Mrs. Mabel Lewis Morgan, Whitewater; Miss Inez Rice, Milton.

Home Sweet Home March.

At a meeting held this week it was decided to have a Fourth of July celebration here, therefore you may be sure that there will be something doing here that day. S. S. Summers will be the "boss man" and has power to appoint assistants. Particulars later. Get ready to shout.

Du Lac lodge I. O. O. F. was represented at the grand lodge at Racine by Past Grand H. D. Smith, P. T. Coon, G. J. Markes and C. W. Crumb. Mrs. Lizzie J. Crumb represented the Rebekah lodge.

The Delavan Commercial club, in a part of automobiles, out on a "booster trip," passed through the village Tuesday, but did not stop. C. F. Gessler, class of '16 in Milton College, has been awarded the Wisconsin University Milton College scholarship.

MINIUM OF VISITORS TO POET'S BIRTHPLACE

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Stratford-on-Avon, June 7.—Shakespeare's birthplace was visited by only about 35,000 persons during the past year as compared with 47,000 in the preceding year, and approximately 50,000 in years of peace. The diminution of visitors from America was most marked, only 254 having signed the register album as against 5,000 the year preceding and an average of over 11,000 during the five years prior to the war. The pressure of the war also brought about a reduction in the number of admissions to Anne Hathaway's cottage and New Place.

The trustees of Shakespeare's birthplace at their annual meeting elected Earl of Plymouth a life trustee in place of the late Lord Ronald Sutherland-Gower. Sir Sidney Lee, who presided, expressed the confident anticipation that American visitors would come in their ordinary numbers when the war was over.
